The Vain Stag

A stag was drinking water at a pond. He saw his horns in water. They were very beautiful. He was very proud of them. He saw his legs. They were thin and ugly. He did not like them. In the meantime, he saw some hounds. He ran and entered a thick forest. But his horns were caught in thick bushes. The dogs reached there. They killed him. At the time of death, the stag said, "My ugly legs saved me, but my horns became the cause of death."

Moral : All that glitters is not gold.

The Elephant and the Tailor

Once there was an elephant. He used to go to the river to drink water. On the way, he passed by a tailor's shop. The tailor used to give him a loaf of bread daily. One day, the tailor was not at the shop. His son was sitting at the shop. He did not give anything to the elephant instead he pricked a needle in his trunk. The elephant became angry. He went to the river bank. He filled dirty water in his trunk. He came to the tailor's shop. He sprayed dirty water into the shop. He spoiled all the clothes.
